

Niki Tertipi is a Lecturer of the WestAttica University at the Department of Biomedical Sciences (Department of Aesthetics and Cosmetology) with knowledge object in the organization of exercise and physical activity programs. She is a graduate from the Department of Physical Education and Sport Sciences with a master's degree in the Organization and Management of sport. She worked at the Technological Educational Institute of Athens from 1998-2018 in the Athletic Department, teaching the courses "Aesthetics Gymnastics I, II, III" at the Department of Aesthetics and Cosmetology. Also worked at the Higher Educational Institute of Piraeus Technological Sector, in Public Education and at Greek Police Officers Academy. She is a founding member of the Laboratory entitled "Laboratory of Dermatology-Aesthetics-Laser Applications" sector of Aesthetics and Cosmetology (<https://lablad.uniwa.gr/>). Her research interests, focus on the study of dermatological problems, that athletes and athletes with disabilities face, and in dealing with aesthetic problems with exercise programs. She is PhD candidate at the Department of Biomedical Sciences of the West Attica University.